

For many years now I have struggled to stop the endless wave of telemarketers which target my home at the most inconvenient times. I, like many people I think, see it as an invasion of my home. The idea that I can just sit in my home not interacting with anyone and be subjected to the constant calls. I never remeber volunteering to be on their call lists. The only way out I see is Federal intervention.